MR. FORAKER'S STATEMENT CAUSES STIR IN THE SENATE.

HE DECLARES THAT THIS GOVERNMENT HAS ALREADY PRACTICALLY RECOGNIZED THE CUBAN REPUBLIC, AND THINKS OFFI-CIAL INFORMATION TO THAT EF-FECT WILL SOON BE FORTHCOMING.

Washington, April 20.-During the five hours of discussion in the Senate this afternoon of its cent action on the Cuban resolutions, in which several extended speeches were made by Senators who voted against the conference report. only one new point was developed. That was made by Mr. Foraker, of Ohio, in the course of a brief statement concerning the recognition of the Cuban Republic's independence. He said: I think quickly, speedily, possibly even now, on the very day when the ultimatum has been sent to Spain, pursuant to the resolutions that passed here, this Government has practically recognized the Republic of Cuba, and I think possibly it is true we will all know by to-morrow that that Government is to-day being officially dealt with by the representatives of this Government, as it should be.

This utterance, coming from a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, created a probund sensation among Senators. Being pressed for the source of his information, Mr. Foraker replied that his information was positive, but not official. Little progress was made with the Sundry Civil bill, on which the Cuban discussion was hung, but in the last few minutes of the session an amendment was agreed to providing for the payment to Great Britain of the Bering Sea award, amounting to $473,151.

SENATE DEBATE IN DETAIL. WARIOUS PHASES OF THE CUBAN QUESTION

Washington, April 20.-When the Senate met tofollowing resolution was presented by Mr. ALLEN (Pop., Neb.):

That in the opinion of the Senate no circumstances can arise in the relations of the United States of America and the Kingdom of Spain that will warrant an increase of the interest-bearing honded indebtedness of this Government, or that will in any manner interfere in the reform of the financial affairs of the United States on lines laid 60wn in the National People's party platform of July, 1896.

Consideration of the Sundry Civil Bill was re-numed, and Mr. COCKRELL (Dem., Mo.) continued is speech on the Cuban question begun yesterday. Mr. VEST (Dem., Mc.) inquired of Mr. Cockrell if proposed to "take the back track" again to-day, and the latter replied simply that he expected to take a minute to finish his remarks. Mr. Cockrell said that he desired to have such resolutions passed by Congress as would declare the Cuban patriots free and independent, and that not the slightest restraint or constraint should be placed upon them.

same subject, said that he had no desire unduly to critic se the President or the Administration. He ad feit from the beginning that there should be a Administration and even the present one had acted of opinion that the friends of the Administration, besides being willing to have a war with Spain, were also willing to seek war among the political Teller then reviewed the action of Congress on the Cuban question. Coming down to the speech

Mr. Hale last Saturday night, he said that it was the first time in his long experience in the Senate that he had heard Congress threatened with an Ex-ecutive veto or had heard the Senate threatened th a deadlock with the House of Representatives. For several days, he declared, it was indecently whispered about the Senate that the President would veto the resolutions if they contained a provision for the recognition of the Cuban Republic. He did not believe that the President had ever autions sent to him by Congress; at least, no in-formation to that effect had reached him from pectable sources." In his experience he had the discussion of a serious proposition. He then called attention to the fact that when he had pressed Mr. Hale the latter had disclaimed any intention to speak for the President. He believed that the discussion last Saturday night had grown partly out of the excitement of the moment and partly out of a desire to precipitate a political dis-

Mr. Teller maintained that he and those who had stood with him had voted against the conference report in the early hours of Tuesday morning to sustain a great principle. Had they been successful then there could be no doubt that now there would be in the resolutions passed a clause recognizing the independence of the Cuban republic. So far as he was personally concerned, the criticism which had been passed upon him would have no effect. All he would have to say to the people of Colorado would be that he had been diametrically opposed to the Senator from Maine (Mr. Hale) on the Cuban question. That statement would be per-fectly satisfactory to them. Mr. Teller maintained that even to-day there was no necessity for inter-vention by the United States. Should Cuban independence he recognized and the patriots receive moral support from the United States, he had no doubt they would be able to sustain themselves and gain their freedom.

supplemented by Mr. BUTLER (Pop., N. C.), that he Cuban republic was really a first-rate Government-not, perhaps, so good in all respects as was the government of the Colonies at the time of the Revolutionary War, but nevertheless sound and in

STATUS OF THE CUBAN REPUBLIC. Mr. FORAKER (Rep., Ohio) called attention to statements made in the Senate two years ago by the present Secretary of State, Mr. Sherman, to the effect that the Cuban republic had an established form of government, administered by officials of high standing, character and ability. He held, therefore, that if those statements were true two years ago their truth had been strongly accentnated since that time, and that it was further en-tirely proper for the United States to recognize the Government of the Cubans. He added

I think it unfortunate that we did not recognize the Cuban Government, but it may not be as unfortunate as I imagine, for I think quickly, speedily, possibly even now, on the very day when the ultimatum has been sent to Spain pursuant to the resolutions that passed here, this Government has practically recognized the Republic of Cuba, and I think possibly it is true we will all know by tomorrow that that Government is to-day being officially dealt with by the official representatives of this Government, as it should be.

In discussing the diplomatic negotiations between this country and Spain Mr. Foraker read from a newspaper clipping what was said to be a semi-official statement in effect that in a formal dispatch sent by the President to the Madrid Government the Attorney-General had changed the term "independent Government" to "stable Government," the change being made because "stable" was the word of diplomacy to be employed in the circumstances. When Minister Woodford had inquired what construction was to be placed upon the word "stable," the President had replied that it must be regarded as meaning "independent." General Woodford had failed to transmit the President's meaning to the Spanish Government, fearing that such a statement made officially might complicate future negotiations. Mr. Foraker said that seemed to be the reason why the independence of the Cubans had

I cannot as a witness be very specific upon hear-cay evidence. The President in his correspondence with the Spanish Government did say that there must be an independent Government in Cuba. This demand was transmitted not only through Minister Woodford, but also through the Spanish Minister in Washington to his Government. I cannot be more definite at this time.

RECOGNITION STILL EXPECTED. Mr. Forsker, resuming his remarks, said the un-ing through diplomatic negotiations to promote the independence of the people of Cuba. He thought the negotiations to-day-the signing by the President of the resolutions of Congress and the sending of an ultimatum to Spain-would amount practically to a recognition of the independence of the Cuban republic, and he thought it would so be developed by to-morrow morning. He had no doubt that the Cuban republic would, of course, be recognized. Mr. TILLMAN (Dem., S. C.) asked Mr. Foraker for a more explicit statement, and Mr. Foraker

I think I made the statement that some representatives of this Government were dealing with the representatives of that Government, which will amount to this: That the Government will in the immediate future be dealing with them, just as it occurred to me we should deal with them if we should recognize the Government.

Mr. Tillman asked Mr. Foraker if he had positive information, to which the Ohio Senator replied: I have positive information, but it is

Mr. Foraker said he believed criticism of the President at this time was out of place. Instead of cavilling over these matters, he deemed it desirable to secure a unity of action. He had stood squarely by his conviction in favor of independence, but was anxious to secure action, and had therefore agreed to the striking out of the recognition clause. It was not known now whether the President had made mistakes or not. Only the future could properly and truthfully develop the President's position. Mr. Teller then finished his speech, holding it to be the duty of all to stand by the country, rather than to seek political advantage. Mr. HALE (Rep., Me.) expressed doubt whether any profit would come out of the present discussion. He reviewed the contest of the last few days, taking opportunity to express his views on the position taken by Mr. Teller and Mr. Cockrell. Mr. WARREN (Rep., Wyo.) paid a high tribute to the President, and said it was evident from the speeches just delivered that the political opponents of the President were aligning their forces, and that the fight to come next fall would be all the other animals in the political "zoo" against the elephant and as usual the elephant would have his trunk with him and occupy the centre of the ring. Mr. STEWART (Pop., Nev.) followed in an extended discussion of the Cuban question.

A TIME FOR HARMONIOUS ACTION.

In the course of a speech by Mr. Allen, in which he further explained the position of those who voted against the conference report on the Cuban resolutions, Mr. CARTER (Rep., Mont.) interrupted him to say that flags were being displayed throughout the city, troops were being mobilized and the Navy was preparing for action. Through all this, the Sundry Civil and Naval Appropriation bills, both carrying money for the support of the Government, were being delayed. "Why," he invoted against the conference report admit that they had made a mistake, and let us now proceed with a united front to uphold the President and the Mr. Allen replied that a mirthful suggestion involving a reference to the American flag was not proper. He had carried that flag, he said, amid

"I do believe," he continued, "that in the present circumstances it is better to make preparations for the coming war than to make exculpatory remarks or ask incriminating questions."

At the close of Mr. Allen's speech, Mr. THURS-TON (Rep., Neb.) said that at 11.24 o'clock to-day, when the President signed the Cuban resolutions sent to him by Congress, the time for party discussion had ended. All but three Senators had at country with unanimity. "The time will come on of this question. Now, until Cuba is made free. until her starving women and children are fed and clothed, until Spain has been driven from the Western Hemisphere forever, for God's sake let us cease this political bickering."

the Sundry Civil bill appropriating and making immediately available $478,151 with which to pay Great Britain the award for Behring Sea claims made by the joint convention of February 29, 1896. He had been urged to place the amendment on this bill by the Foreign Relations Committee instead of waiting for the General Deficiency bill. The amendment was agreed to. On motion of Mr. Allison, the Senate, at 5:35 p. m., went into executive session, and soon afterward adjourned.

FORAKER REPELS AN ACCUSATION. THE OHIO SENATOR SAYS HE DOESN'T OWN A CUBAN BOND.

Washington, April 20.-Senator Foraker has written & letter to W. D. Bissman, of Toledo, Ohio, a constituent, in regard to charges that he is inter-ested in Cuban bonds. The letter is in reply to the following, in a letter which Mr. B.ssman had previously written him:

A great deal of talk is making the rounds that you are heavily involved with the Junta bonds, and are talking for par value more than the sentiments of your best judgment.

Replying to this Senator Foraker says:

If any such story is being circulated it is a falsehood pure and simple, without the slightest shadow of truth for its foundation. I have no interest in any Junta or Cuban bonds, or any other kind of bonds affected by the Cuban question, or any interest of any kind whatsoever, directly or indirectly, and never did have and never expect to have. I did not even know that the Republic of Cuba had issued any bonds until General Grosvenor stated in the House of Representatives that there had been bonds of this character issued to the amount of $100,000.000.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations at once called before it Mr. Guerra, who is the SuiTreasurer of the Republic of Cuba at New-York, and examined him upon the subject. The House Foreign Relations Committee also took testimony, the result of all which was that it was conclusively proved that the Republic of Cuba has never authorized but $10,000.000 of bonds. Of this amount only $3,000.000 has ever been printed, and of these $3,000.000 only $122,000 and some odd dollars have been disposed of. Replying to this Senator Foraker says:

UPWARD MOVEMENT OF COTTON. MARKED RISE HERE FOLLOWING THE AD-VANCE IN LIVERPOOL

The cotton market vesterday had its most exciting day since the fall of 1897, and the bears got a bad fright. The bulls have held to the belief that prices must rise whether or not there should be war; but the bears have contended that If war should break out cotton must go down, and even within the last few days, with the outlook becoming day by day more threatening, have been selling for the decline. Yesterday, however, the Liverpool market showed at the opening a hig advance in futures, while spot cotton also was higher than at Tuesday's close. Rumors were circulated there that American ports would soon be completely blockaded, and as this would cut off the supply of material for European spinners there was an active demand for the small supply of cotton held by Liverpool importers, the result being the marked advance in prices already noted. The Liverpool news had the effect of sending up prices on the local Exchange fifteen to eighteen points at the opening, the shorts covering in large volume, and the sales during the first hour aggregating one hundred thousand bales, five times the ordinary amount. The advance was checked before long, but in the afternoon the continued strength of the market caused renewed covering by shorts and another upward flight of prices. There were violent fluctuations throughout the day, but at the close prices showed again, amounting in some of the futures to twenty points, as compared with Tuesday's final figures. ing day by day more threatening, have been sell-

The Government bond market closed firm, the fours coupon of 1925 at 1184, bid, an advance of 144 per cent, and the fours registered of 1925 at 117 bid, an advance of one-half per cent. The recent decline, it is said by bond authorities, has been due to a belief that a large new loan was certain in the near future. The new fours coupon and registered bonds, at the prevailing prices, are now practically on a 3 per cent basis, and it was remarked yesterday that they would be a more desirable investment than 3 per cent 5-29 bords of a new loan at par, as they would have longer to run. Nevertheless the banker making this suggestion added that there would be no difficulty in selling $10,00,00,00 or the new bonds to the people through the postoffice, and the banks would do their part in absorbing the rest of the loan at par, either reselling the honds or depositing them at Washington and taking out circulation against them, following the country's requirements.

A special dispatch from Washington yesterday said that the Treasury Department would ask authority to issue only $100,00,000 in bonds for the present. The honds would be 2 per cents, redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after five years, psyable in twenty years in coin, and would be placed on sale in all postal money-order offices.

The Sub-Treasury yesterday received from the depository banks the sum of $54,00,00 on account of the Union Pacific purchase money. This is the sixth and final instalment to be paid under the call issued by the Treasury Department shout two weeks ago the sum of $3,315,000 in all having been paid in, leaving with the special depositories balances aggradating between $8,000,000 and $6,000,000.

The only transfer of currency by the Sub-Treasury yesterday was $500,000 for Philiadelphia, against which a corresponding sum in gold was deposited with the Sub-Treasury.
